

GADBA Distribution Partner

Code of Conduct

As a Distribution Partner I agree to conduct myself according to the following principles---

- I will follow and uphold the code of conduct of the Great American Discount Buyers Association. That is to be fair, honest, and to have a strong commitment to always “Do the right thing” for myself, my associates, other members, and GADBA.
- I will present all products, benefits, and services in a truthful and honest manner.
- I will present the earning opportunities as a Distribution Partner to other prospects in honest straightforward terms, with no exaggerated claims. I will use my personal earnings as the basis for others.
- I will be courteous and prompt in the handling of any questions or complaints.
- I will conduct myself in such a manner as to reflect only the highest standards of integrity, honesty, and responsibility understanding that my actions affect not only me, but all other Distribution Partners, and the entire GADBA organization.
- I will only use the literature and sales materials produced or authorized by GADBA, and will not change, modify, or alter without the expressed written consent of the association.
